is equal to the mean age of the women in his classes After collecting data from a random sample of his students, the professor tested the hypothesis $H_0: \mu_M - \mu_W = 0$ against the alternative $H_A: \mu_M - \mu_W \neq 0$ The P-value for the test was 0.003 Which is true? A) There is a 03% chance that the mean ages for the men and women are

Statistical Modeling

Modeling: Data are thought of a realization from (Y, X_1, \dots, X_5) with the relationship between X and Y described above From this example, the model is a convenient assumption made by data analysts Indeed, statistical models are frequently useful fictions There are trade-offs among the choice of statistical models:

Stats: Modeling the World - Bock, Velleman, & DeVeaux 9 If your data contain zeroes, what must you do before re-expressing using logarithms or reciprocals? Explain 10 If a scatterplot of the x-values vs the logarithm of the y-values appears to be linear, what type of relationship is there between the original x- and y-values? 11 Rewrite
